MASTER OF CEREMONIES:

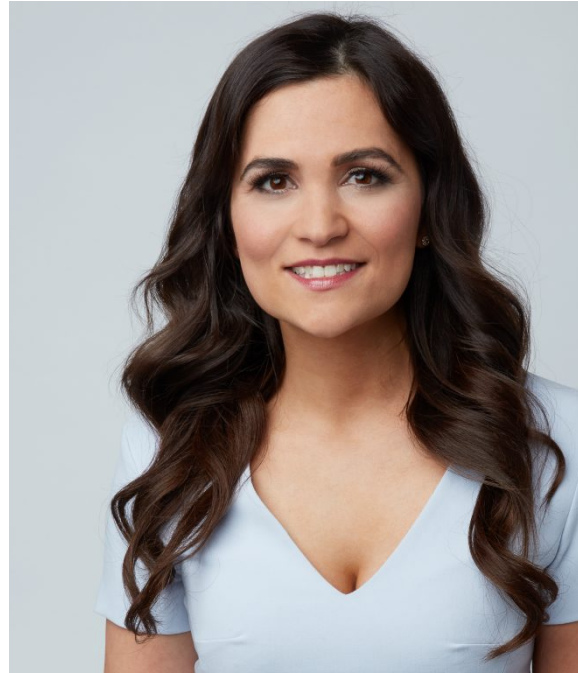

STELLA ACQUISTO

Stella Acquisto joined the team back in 2011 with the launch of CityNews Channel.

She was hired as a traffic reporter, but joined the weather team days later. Her passion for news, weather and sports has allowed her to evolve into the role she is in today. Stella is our weekend weather anchor on both CityNews and 680 NEWS. When she's not updating you on the current temperatures and conditions or bearing the cold at a live event, she is general reporting and covering our athlete of the week segment.

On occasion she will also fill in for Frank Ferragine on BT (Breakfast Television).

Acquisto is first-generation Canadian. She was born in Toronto, raised in Woodbridge and comes from an Italian background. She studied Journalism at Seneca and earned a Political Science and Communications Studies degree at York University. Stella is an adrenaline junkie, from skydiving to plunging in -20 C water, she is up for the challenge.

She has also covered more serious topics placing herself in the shoes of a homeless person for a night. During her time at City, Stella worked for Fox Soccer as their game-day weather specialist.

Prior to her arrival at City, she worked in Northern Ontario for three years covering news and weather. Stella's time up north allowed her to take her skills abroad covering a four-part series in Haiti, a year after the earthquake.

An interesting fact about Stella, she used to be a flight attendant, which allowed her to travel around the world.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

OWEN CHARTERS

President & CEO | Boys & Girls Clubs of Canada

Owen Charters has been President & CEO of Boys & Girls Clubs of Canada since 2016, where he is deeply invested in the work of Clubs across the country – work that is vital to give each and every child and youth that passes through our doors the opportunity to grow and build on their ambitions. While he doesn't get to work directly with kids on a day-to-day basis anymore, he cherishes visits to Clubs and being in the middle of the activities, where you can sometimes hear his 'camp counsellor voice' in action.

Born in Toronto, raised in St. John's, Owen has worked with many non-profit organizations through his career, including youth-serving organizations like the YM-YWCA and Easter Seals. In executive leadership roles, he has focused on marketing and fundraising to raise the profile and grow the impact of various health charities and hospital foundations, and at Canada Helps, to encourage technologically-enabled philanthropy. A proponent of a strong, collective voice for the non-profit sector, Owen is a member of the Advisory Committee for the School for Advanced Studies in the Arts and Humanities at Western University, a board member of Common Good—a pension plan for the non-profit sector, and former chair of Imagine Canada. He holds a BA from the University of Western Ontario, and an MBA and a Graduate Diploma in Non-profit Management, both from the Schulich School of Business, York University. He is an adjunct member of York's faculty, lecturing at the MBA-level on non-profit management.
